Dear Parents

The Internet is an incredibly exciting part of our everyday world. It offers us the opportunity to explore the world from our very own home. Even though this virtual world provides very exciting opportunities, it brings with it a whole new set of risks.

Nowadays, young people live in a social, digital and connected world, and this is the only world they have ever known. We need to ensure that our children and young people know what the dangers can be to teach them how to respond to these dangers responsibly and safely.

Whilst the Internet brings amazing opportunities for young people to learn, create and socialise, it is our duty as adults to help them navigate this online world safely. Children and young people must recognise that every click, every post, every purchase and every photo we upload will leave a digital footprint.

It is important to start the conversations about Internet Safety at an early age, in order to help set boundaries together and provide a clear understanding of when it is safe to explore the Internet freely. We need to build resilience within our children and young people and offer unconditional support to ensure their online world is safe.

To support you to help your child stay safe online, we would like to invite you to an online safety session on Tuesday 28th November from 3.30-4.45pm. The session will include a presentation, information and advice about what children and young people are doing online, the risks they sometimes take, and how we can support our children and young people to stay safe.

Online Safety is incredibly important and we hope that you will join us to find out about how we can keep our children safe. Please complete the booking form below, in order to secure your place. The presentation is designed with an adult audience in mind. Therefore, children will not be able to attend the session; however, you are welcome to bring them along as we have a child friendly activity planned for them.
